

Mission Statement on Animal Well-Being

“Tyson Foods is committed to the well-being, proper handling and humane slaughter of all the animals we use to produce meat and poultry. This is a long-standing commitment, and we pledge our diligence in leading the industry pursuit of new and improved technology and methods to improve animal well-being. It’s not only the right thing to do; we believe it’s our responsibility. It’s an important moral and ethical obligation we owe our suppliers, customers, ourselves and, most of all, the animals we depend on for our livelihood. All Tyson Foods Team Members, as well as the independent poultry, cattle and hog farmers who supply us, are expected to respect and serve as stewards of the animals we work with every day, treating them in a proper manner at all times. The Tyson Foods FarmCheck® Program, which involves on-farm animal welfare audits, as well as our Farm Animal Well-Being Research Program and Animal Well-Being Advisory Committee, each provide added assurance of our commitment.”

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "DSK", is positioned above the printed name.

Donnie Smith
President and CEO
Tyson Foods, Inc.